WHO IS NORTH CAROLINA HUMANITIES?

North Carolina Humanities (NC Humanities/NCH) has been a leading humanities funder in North Carolina since our founding in 1972. NC Humanities creates, facilitates and funds public humanities programs that help North Carolinians make sense of themselves, their neighbors, and their communities by considering new perspectives and thinking critically about the past, the present, and the future.

OUR MISSION

To connect North Carolinians with cultural experiences that spur dialogue, deepen human connections, and inspire community.

OUR VISION

A North Carolina enriched by the humanities and equipped with empathy, understanding, and respect.

OUR VALUES

- ▲ Curiosity: We believe that a strong desire to always learn more, know more, and question more is important for growth and lifelong happiness.
- ▲ Openness: We believe that a variety of ideas and perspectives is essential to a thriving community.
- ▲ Engagement: We believe the humanities spark change and encourage meaningful community conversations and experiences that lead to a greater understanding of our similarities and differences.
- ▲ Knowledge: We believe that knowledge builds community. When we come together to learn, we become better neighbors and help North Carolina continue to be a great place for all.
- ▲ Respect: We believe everyone is important and worthy of politeness and dignity.

WHAT WE FUND

We welcome diverse projects from across North Carolina that address different topics and use a variety of public humanities disciplines. We are interested in funding projects that advance one or more of the following:

- ▲ Deepen human connections by broadening perspectives
- ▲ Equip communities with empathy, understanding, and respect
- ▲ Connect North Carolinians across difference
- ▲ Respond to community interests
- ▲ Encourage dialogue, critical thinking, and the exchange of ideas
- ▲ Ask fundamental questions about identity and culture
- ▲ Contextualize experiences, both historical and current
- ▲ Foster a more informed and engaged citizens
- ▲ Move beyond facts and information (what, where, and when) to questions of interpretation and analysis (i.e., “What is the meaning of this story?” or “How can we learn from it?” etc.)

WHAT ARE THE HUMANITIES?

There are many ways to interpret what “the humanities” means.

- ▲ The humanities are a set of disciplines which help us understand what it means to be human by exploring:
 - Our Past: history & archaeology
 - Our Cultural Expressions: anthropology, literature, linguistics, languages, art history, theory, and criticism
 - Our Values: ethics, philosophy, comparative religion, law
- ▲ The humanities can also be seen as a range of activities that revolve around exploring culture, such as reading a book, listening to a story, recording your memories and thoughts, talking with people, and questioning the values and motivations of ourselves and others.

Formally, the definition of “the humanities” according to the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities Act (1965) includes, but is not limited to, the study and interpretation of the following:

- Language, both modern and classical
- Linguistics
- Literature
- History
- Jurisprudence
- Philosophy
- Archaeology
- Comparative religion
- Ethics
- The history, criticism, and theory of the arts
- Social sciences which have humanistic content and/or employ humanistic methods

WHO IS A HUMANITIES EXPERT?

NC Humanities-funded grant projects must engage a humanities expert. We believe that a humanities expert makes a humanities project more robust and comprehensive by contributing their deep knowledge and cultural expertise. For NC Humanities, a humanities expert may include but is not limited to:

- ▲ A community or tribal elder. Someone recognized by their community as a keeper of cultural knowledge or practices
- ▲ An individual with an advanced degree (MA or higher) in a humanities discipline
- ▲ A culture bearer, someone with special expertise in the lifeways, traditions, and worldviews of a particular culture
- ▲ An individual with a humanities-based certification or training (for example from a museum or cultural institution)

While welcomed to participate in projects, artists and authors are not considered humanities experts unless they also fulfill one or more of the criteria above.

Need help finding a humanities expert for your project? Consider contacting a university, college, or community college humanities department for help. NC Humanities staff can also provide advice and assistance in identifying humanities experts.

A POINT OF CLARIFICATION ABOUT THE ARTS

NC Humanities does not fund the creation/display of visual art (drawing, painting, sculpture, etc.), the performance of art (drama, dance, music, etc.), or literary art (creative writing, autobiographies, memoirs, and creative nonfiction). In general, we do not award grants for creative literary arts programs or writing workshops unless they include considerable opportunity for public reflection, and discussion.

Projects that focus on art history/criticism/theory (e.g., a lecture/discussion program in which a qualified humanities expert explores artistic themes and helps put work in a larger social/historical context) are eligible. If your project includes arts-based activities, please reach out to our staff for further guidance.

OUR RELATIONSHIP WITH NEH

NC Humanities is the state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH). NC Humanities grants are made with federal funds from the NEH (Assistance Listing: 45.129) and many of our guidelines directly relate to statutes and policies governing the use of federal dollars. Violation of these restrictions could result in revocation of the grant by NC Humanities.

REQUIRED COST SHARE MATCH

NC Humanities will cover up to one-third of the total cost of the project. As such, grantees are expected to leverage or match NC Humanities' invested grant monies at a cost share ratio of 2-to-1 with cash and/or in-kind cost share donations.

NC Humanities reports how much private investment our grants leverage to the National Endowment for the Humanities to demonstrate how federal funds are being matched by local community support. This is an important requirement in our grantmaking and we appreciate your care in thoroughly reporting these figures. This information underscores the importance and impact of continuing our grantmaking efforts in North Carolina.

Applicants' total cost share, (cash and in-kind donations combined) must leverage funds from NC Humanities by a 2-to-1 ratio. For example, if you request $2,000 in NC Humanities funds, you must provide a cost share match of at least $4,000. This match may be any combination of cash and in-kind resources invested in the project.

- ▲ Cash contribution: Actual money spent for the project, either by the grantee organization, their partner organizations, or individuals. This may include staff salary, travel, purchased supplies, rental of facilities/equipment —any paid costs from non-NC Humanities grant funds.
- ▲ In-kind contribution: The dollar value of donated goods and services, such as donated humanities expert time and/or travel, volunteer labor, donated venue space, donated use of equipment, or supplies -any resources for the project that are contributed at no cost. Or if a service for which you are paying is discounted by the vendor the value of the discount is also an in-kind contribution.

Cash and in-kind contributions to a project are acceptable as cost sharing when such contributions meet the following criteria:

- ▲ They must be verifiable from a grantee's records
- ▲ They must not be included as contributions for any other federally-assisted program
- ▲ They must be necessary and reasonable for the proper and efficient accomplishment of project objectives
- ▲ They must be types of charges that would be allowable under the cost principles
- ▲ They must be used to support activities that are included in the approved project work plan
- ▲ They must be incurred during the period of performance

Any contribution that a grantee makes to a project must be based either on the cost incurred to provide that contribution or, in the case of donated buildings or equipment, on depreciation or a use allowance that is computed in accordance with the applicable cost principles. When a grantee is not able to calculate the exact cost involved in contributing its own equipment, space, services, etc. to the project, then the grantee must indicate in their project budget the basis for determining the value of the contribution. Any program income generated by the project should be used to meet the cost sharing or matching requirement.

NC Humanities provides in-depth Cost-Share Guidelines with a sample tracking sheet to support our grantees in this cost share collection effort. We encourage you to reach out to our staff for further guidance.

Please note, indirect costs can only be calculated on the grant expenses, not on the cost share portion of the project.

YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES FOR MANAGING AN NC HUMANITIES GRANT

If you are selected to receive a grant from NC Humanities, our staff will send you information outlining the requirements for managing your award. Among other actions you will be required to take:

- ▲ Track your grant cost share match sources in detail and report the totals on your Final Report.
- ▲ Retain auditable records of grant funds for three years after the award is closed.
- ▲ Comply with all guidelines, restrictions, and policies laid out in this document.
